Ethics in Technology

Prepare for the Assessment

To prepare for the objective assessment, see if you can answer "yes" to the following questions:

- Can I explain how IT professionals use ethical decision-making to address ethical challenges related to data privacy?

- Can I determine where sources of data accuracy threats exist?

- Can I explain how IT professionals deal with the ethical challenges related to data accuracy?

- Can I determine where the sources of major institutional threats to data privacy exist?

- Can I determine where the sources of data access threats exist in information technology?

- Can I determine where sources of global-level threats to data accuracy exist?

- Can I explain how IT professionals deal with the ethical challenges related to data property?

Move Ahead When Ready

If you answered "yes" to all the Prepare for the Assessment questions, begin this section by taking the section assessment. If you do well and are confident, take the pre-assessment. Use your results, or results from a prior pre-assessment attempt, to help gauge your readiness to take the objective assessment. If you plan to move ahead, discuss it with your instructor.
