Ethics in Technology

Prepare for the Assessment

To prepare for the objective assessment, see if you can answer "yes" to the following questions:

- Can I explain the need for ethics within the field of information technology?

- Can I describe the main ethical frameworks that can be used for decision-making in information technology?

- Can I explain how IT professionals deal with ethical challenges related to data access?

- Can I identify components of data privacy and data access in information technology?

- Can I determine where the sources of major data system breach threats exist?

- Can I detail the purpose and value of professional ethics in guiding ethical decision-making in information technology?

Move Ahead When Ready

If you answered "yes" to all the Prepare for the Assessment questions, begin this section by taking the section assessment. If you do well and are confident, take the Pre-Assessment. Use your results, or results from a prior pre-assessment attempt, to help gauge your readiness to take the objective assessment. If you plan to move ahead, discuss it with your instructor.
